

Our stay in Barcelona was unforgettable. The city teaches you a whole new way of travelling and discovering culture. So many things to see, that I don't even know where to start. Barcelona is simply majestic.

The day after we got here, we couldn't wait and went visit the church of La Sagrada Familia, it was by far the most impressive attraction. Did you know that it welcomes 3 million visitors a year? A must-see.

On Saturday, we started with some shopping at Passeig de Gracia, such a lovely boulevard with great shops and a wonderful architecture. Then we went for a walk in the Gotic Quarter of el Born and review some of Barcelona's history. Later that day we enjoy sunset time at the beach, memorable. We ended the day at the famous tapas bar, Cerveceria Catalana.

The next day, Sunday, we took the brunch at the hotel Barcelo Raval, enjoyed the drink on the rooftop and then did a visit by bike of Barcelona and it was terrific.

Useful information: Tourist Desk on plaza Catalunya www.museupicasso.bcn.cat/en

HTbis

Barcelona
08001

